Together we deliver

A meaningful career

As OB/GYNs, we have the privilege of touching so many lives. We have the rare opportunity to usher new life into the world.

But what about your life? Your family? Your need for flexibility?

What if there were a way to practice the medicine you desire while living the life you deserve?

Ob Hospitalist Group provides a new full or part-time career path for OB/GYNs who want something more – more control over their time, more time with their families, more time to play.

It can be strenuous juggling so much responsibility: trying to serve patients in the office as well as those laboring at the hospital, managing office staff, dealing with ever-changing regulations, rushing to attend (but sometimes missing) family events, or being awakened at 3:00 a.m. to make urgent clinical decisions.

There is a better way.

Hospitalist medicine allows you to focus entirely on the patient.

You can help correct a disparity of care by ensuring that all women presenting to the hospital with an OB complaint are evaluated by a highly skilled physician rather than funneled through the conventional nurse-led phone triage.

This is possible, all while practicing a stimulating range of clinical care.

OBHG positions offer attractive compensation, the flexibility to create your own schedule and freedom from on-call duty.

We also offer paid medical malpractice insurance with tail, continuing medical education, leadership training and advancement opportunities, phenomenal physician support and resources, full benefits and a lifestyle that works!

“A career in OB/GYN hospitalist medicine offers such tremendous reward and professional satisfaction. At OBHG, you can have a meaningful career working on the forefront of women’s healthcare - while enjoying the support, resources and flexibility our hospitalist roles offer.”

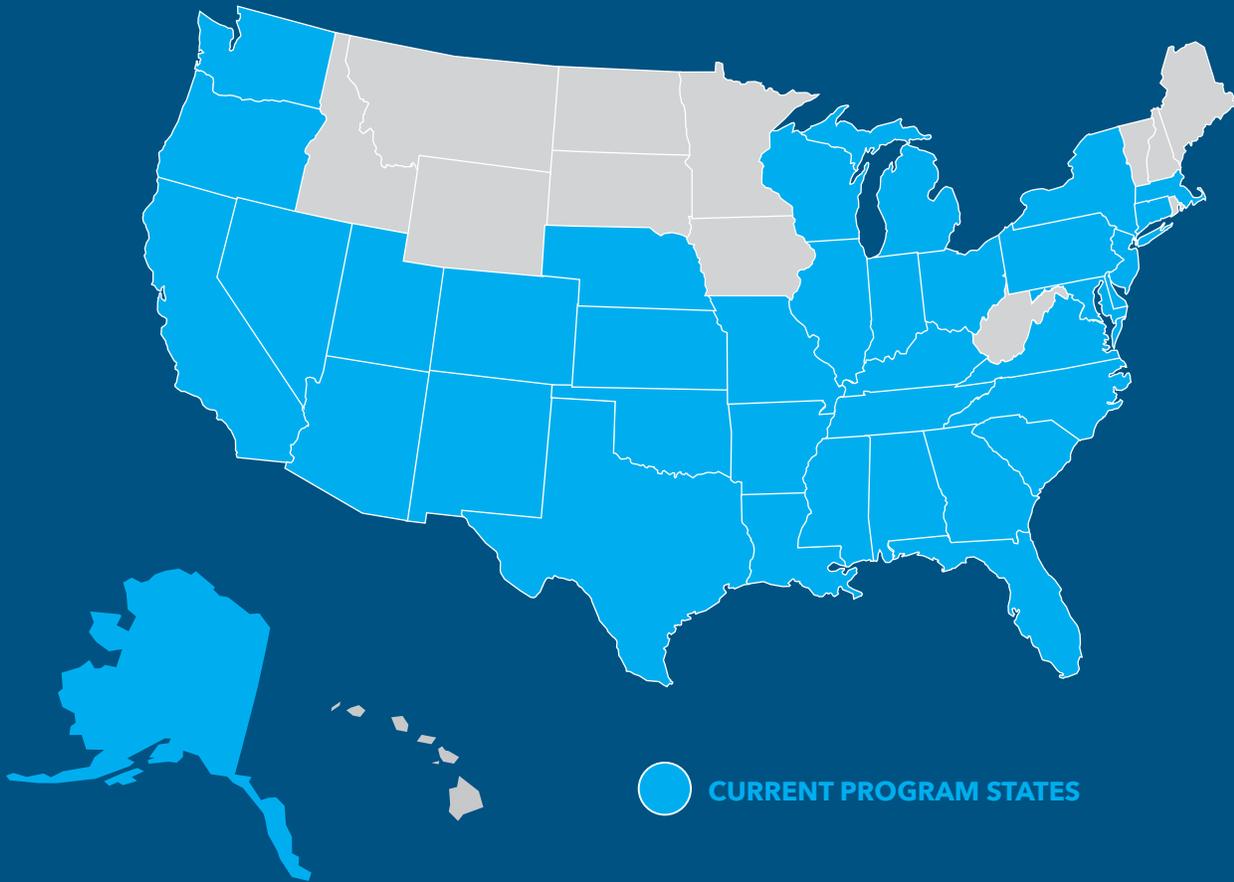

– Amy VanBlaricom, MD
OBHG chief clinical officer

“It is important to ensure that we are utilizing the right healthcare resources as well as benefitting from a diverse workforce. OBHG provides our clinicians with the tools and resources they need to be more successful at the bedside so they can deliver the care they are eminently qualified to give. This leads to better outcomes for patients, and that is what we’re here for.”

– Mark Simon, MD, MMM, CPE
OBHG chief medical officer

A rapidly growing national footprint

OBHG leads the industry in developing and managing hospital obstetric emergency departments.

As the largest employer of OB hospitalists in the nation (not a locums or staffing company), we are constantly adding new part-time, full-time and leadership positions across the United States.

Keep up with our new program and career announcements by signing up for our OB/GYN hospitalist job alerts at obhg.com/careers.

A day in the life

Our hospitalists will tell you that each day is as varied and unique as the patients they see. Any given shift may include:

- Caring for all pregnant women who present emergently, regardless of circumstance
- Cultivating relationships with staff nurses and hospital personnel
- Supporting private practice physicians by providing coverage and assistance
- Caring for unassigned patients
- Evaluating and treating triage patients
- Providing consultation to the ED
- Monitoring labor
- Delivering babies
- Performing surgery and surgical assists
- Evaluating and treating postpartum patients
- Assisting with OB resident and medical student education
- Providing nurse support and education
- Participating in emergency drills and simulations
- Developing best practices
- Participating in clinical trials
- Facilitating daily interdisciplinary board rounds to improve patient safety

Leading the way

OBHG began with a vision of elevating the standard of women's healthcare by ensuring that every expectant mother would be evaluated by a skilled physician when presenting to the hospital. Today, we are the largest OB/GYN hospitalist employer in the nation.

Our commitment to improving patient safety and healthcare quality is creating an incredible demand for our services. As OBHG continues to grow, so does our need to fill hospitalist positions across the country.

Creating, implementing and managing OB/GYN hospitalist programs is the only thing we do. And we do it the best by:

- Delivering quality care that is evidence-based and consistent with our core values
- Embracing the spirit of service to others
- Delivering financial solutions to increase ROI
- Valuing and supporting our clinicians

Our hospitalists are part of a team of passionate professionals working together with the support of the clinical site director, medical director of operations and director of hospital operations to ensure that the program meets both OBHG's and the partner hospital's operational goals.

Our ideal candidate is:

- An experienced OB/GYN with a successful track record
- Highly personable and skilled at relationship building
- Licensed to practice medicine in the state of the assigned program
- An excellent communicator
- Team-oriented, service-minded and goal-focused

A collaborative commitment to quality

In 2006, Dr. Chris Swain - our founder and an obstetrician - pioneered an OB/GYN hospitalist model that is much more comprehensive than the typical laborist staffing paradigm.

Dr. Swain's model features an obstetric emergency department (OBED) staffed by dedicated OB/GYNs who are on-site 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

By virtue of operating under the emergency department's existing license, an OBED helps hospitals capture additional revenue from facility fees that would not apply in a standard labor-and-delivery triage unit.

Local private practice physicians benefit as well, because hospitalists serve around the clock to treat their off-hour emergent cases as needed, yet the hospital fees are billed to the patient's insurer without breaking the local physician's global maternity fee.

In addition, our hospitalists treat unassigned and uninsured OB patients and are on hand to assist with emergent OB/GYN patients, including with surgeries, as needed.

Many OBHG physicians serve on hospital committees, assist with resident education, take on leadership roles within their communities and are routinely honored by their colleagues. They provide valued expertise for the healthcare system in which they practice.

We are proud to offer our hospitalists:

- Competitive compensation
- Flexible schedules (Typically 7 - 9 shifts per 28-day block)
- No on-call responsibility
- CME allowance and 401k match
- Leadership/advancement opportunities
- Paid medical malpractice insurance with tail
- Full medical benefits
- Collegial, team-based work environment
- Unparalleled physician support and resources

Our hospitalists treat all women presenting to the hospital with an OB complaint at 20+ weeks gestation. Conditions commonly treated in the OBED include preterm labor, abnormal vaginal bleeding, ruptured membranes, labor checks, decreased fetal movement and increased blood pressure.

A bright future

Exceptional OB/GYN physicians now have the opportunity to step into a rewarding, dynamic full-time career with the national leader in OB hospitalist medicine right out of residency!

OBHG hospitalists have always been ahead of the curve of women's health care.

They make a significant difference in the way pregnant women are cared for in this country, while alleviating burnout for private practice obstetricians and lowering risk for hospitals - all while enjoying a balanced lifestyle that includes flexible scheduling and no on-call duty.

We offer newly minted OB/GYNs:

- Variety - each hospital is unique, and each OBHG hospital program offers a different type of work experience
(Our clinical recruiters will help you find just the right fit)
- Mobility - clinicians who decide to move to another part of the country will have the opportunity to transfer

- Specialized education and simulation training
- A leadership track - OBHG will guide and nurture physicians looking to advance and move into director-level roles

Board-eligible physicians who join the stellar OBHG team are able to work with some of the finest obstetricians in the U.S. and help shape the future of our specialty.

There is no better place to begin building your ultimate hospitalist career.

Strengthening residency programs

OBHG has a vested interest in improving the skills of present and future clinicians. That's why we work with our hospital partners to offer their residents one-on-one mentoring and enhanced training opportunities in evidence-based best practices. Whenever possible, our hospitalists involve family practice, emergency medicine and OB/GYN residents in each delivery they attend.

In addition, they provide additional onsite supervision as needed and help facilitate communication and understanding between residents and their faculty advisors. OBHG hospitalists coach residents in disease prevention and public health maintenance, and demonstrate soft skills such as effective interaction with patients and their families. They impart the importance of patient safety, continuity of care, communication and collaboration across clinical disciplines.

OBHG hospitalists also provide informal training to nurses and other mid-level practitioners in our partner hospitals.

Our ultimate goal is to help resident physicians gain the clinical knowledge they will need to provide outstanding obstetrical care within a professional, safe and team-based culture.

Your journey starts here

Seeking exceptional OB/GYNs with a sense of adventure

Ob Hospitalist Group's Diplomat travel program offers experienced OB/GYNs the opportunity to practice medicine in a variety of facilities and settings while earning a salary comparable to private practice.

Because our programs are customized to each hospital's unique needs, each offers a different professional experience.

The work is guaranteed, and Diplomat physicians will have several months to prepare for each new position.

We handle the privileging and credentialing, along with housing and travel costs - so you can concentrate on caring for the moms, babies and families who need you most.

OBHG is the perfect place to stretch your wings, grow your career and look to the future.

The sky's the limit!

To learn more about the Diplomat program, explore current locations and determine if travel hospitalist work is right for you, please contact recruiting@obhg.com or 800.967.2289.

Certified nurse midwives: A bedside partnership

A trusted fixture in homes for decades, nurse midwives attended home births well into the 1950s, mostly for women who could not afford hospital care.

Decision-makers at urban teaching hospitals finally recognized midwife contributions to quality care when they addressed post-war "baby boom" capacity by adding midwifery services to their obstetrics departments. Certified nurse midwives now attend an estimated 12% of hospital vaginal births.

Because we believe every patient is best served by a team of caregivers, OBHG offers attractive career opportunities for experienced, dedicated CNMs.

Our hospital-based CNMs are able to focus solely on providing patient care. They enjoy having more time to connect with patients and their families and the flexibility to create their own schedules.

Improving patient safety every day

OBHG recognizes that communication is paramount in maintaining and improving hospital patient safety. The entire care team must commit to an organization-wide culture of safety.

That's why we established SAFE, a collaborative initiative focusing on patient safety and quality of care, outcomes-based metric collection and analysis, dissemination of best practices and expedited issue management via our SAFE Hotline.

OBHG clinicians receive SAFE education and work closely with OBHG's Risk Management and Quality teams to implement SAFE elements that are customized to each hospital. Incorporating the SAFE program across OBHG's clinician base and hospital partner network has resulted in reduced risk and improved outcomes for both hospitals and clinicians.

Ob Hospitalist Group Cares

OBHG physicians have each other's backs. Because life as an OB/GYN brings incredible joy and fulfillment - but also pain and loss.

The CARE program (Clinician Assistance, Recovery and Encouragement) is a unique program that provides confidential peer-to-peer support following a difficult case or outcome.

The CARE team is made up of OBHG hospitalists who have devoted their lives to quality patient care and can identify with the challenges clinicians face.

Trained in crisis support and stress management, CAREgivers provide one-on-one assistance in whatever capacity is most helpful – whether it's a friendly shoulder, an attentive ear or a message of encouragement.

A proven process

Our new hospital partners are usually very eager to implement OBHG's life-saving program and introduce the obstetric emergency department to their community. Physician selection happens very early in the process to allow time for privileging and state licensing. There are generally only five or six hospitalist positions available at each hospital program, so the competition is great. To be considered for current or future opportunities, contact recruiting@obhg.com to 'request an online application.

- 1 - First contact - Phone interview with an OBHG recruitment professional. During the phone interview, we will address all of your questions and make sure we identify the perfect fit for you and your family.
- 2 - Medical leadership - Phone interview with the clinical leader. This time is designed for you and the program's medical leader to discuss the position details and what it means to be an OBHG clinician.
- 3 - Application - Your recruiter will provide information needed to complete the mandatory preliminary OBHG online application process.
- 4 - Review panel - The OBHG review panel evaluates the application and supporting documentation. Should there be any information that needs discussion, the review panel may require additional phone interviews with an OBHG medical director of operations and a risk manager.

Once completed, your recruiter will contact you to let you know whether your application is approved to move forward.
- 5 - Meet and Greet - Once your application is approved your recruiter will present your CV to the hospital and coordinate a virtual meet and greet when applicable.
- 6 - Employment contract - Your recruiter will create and send for e-signature.

New employee activities

In the event you are offered and accept a position with OBHG, you will have a dedicated team to guide you through the onboarding process. Your recruiter will introduce you to your credentialing specialist, payor enrollment specialist, and human resources business partner who will help you complete each step. You may view the status of these activities via Ob Exchange - our online clinicians' portal. These activities often occur simultaneously:

Welcome letter - You will receive an emailed welcome letter from your recruiter confirming that you have accepted OBHG's offer of employment.

HR - The physician will complete a drug screen and new employee paperwork, such as the I-9 form, W-2 tax form, and related documents.

Hospital privileging - OBHG Credentialing specialist will complete the hospital privileging application and assist with the privileging process.

Payor Enrollment - OBHG Payor enrollment specialist will link the physician to all OBHG insurance payors

Payroll - OBHG payroll specialists will add the physician to the OBHG payroll.

Medical malpractice insurance - The risk management department will provide the physician with medical malpractice insurance coverage with tail.

Orientation - Your orientation activities and computer training will be coordinated.

Work scheduling - The OBHG site director and/or Clinical Coverage Coordinator (scheduler) will work with each team member to create work schedules three months in advance. The schedules can be viewed online.
